Legislative Framework

Regulated health professionals are permitted under section 85.8 of the Health Professions Procedural Code (the Code), which is Schedule 2 of the Regulated Health Professions Act, 1991 (RHPA) to incorporate a business for the purpose of practising a health profession. Such professional corporations are governed by provisions of the Business Corporations Act, R.S.O. 1990, c.B16 (BCA), and Ontario Regulation 39/02 made under the RHPA, “Certificates of Authorization” (the Regulation) and require that a corporation intending to practice a health profession obtain a certificate of authorization from the appropriate health regulatory College. The provisions outline the conditions and requirements that must be met in order to obtain a certificate of authorization from a College, which include the following for those seeking a certificate of authorization from the College of Naturopaths of Ontario (the College):

- All the issued and outstanding shares of the corporation must be legally and beneficially owned, directly or indirectly, by one or more members of the same profession who hold a certificate of registration issued by the College.¹
- All officers and directors of the corporation must be shareholders of the corporation.
- The articles of incorporation for the professional corporation must provide that the corporation cannot carry on a business other than the practise of the profession governed by the College and activities related to or ancillary to the practice of that profession and activities related to or ancillary to the practise of the profession (in this case, naturopathy).
- The name of the corporation must comply with the naming requirements as set out in section 3.2 of the BCA, and the Regulation, and not include any information other than that permitted or required under the BCA or the Regulation.²

To obtain an initial certificate of authorization from the College, a corporation must complete and submit the online application form, along with certain information and documents to the College, as required by regulation. You may wish to refer to section 3.2 of the BCA and the Regulation which are appended to this Guide.

For more information and helpful tips, please refer to the Frequently Asked Questions section of this Guide.

Frequently Asked Questions

Introduction

The below frequently asked questions are intended as general guidance to the most commonly discussed issues relating to professional corporations. The responses are not legal advice and are not intended as such. For more detailed information on professional corporations, readers should review the relevant statutes and regulations provided in this document and consult with independent legal or financial advisors.

General

1. Should I set up my practice as a professional corporation?

The decision of whether or not to set up your practice as a professional corporation will depend on a number of factors, including the nature of your practice, with whom you practise, your personal financial circumstances and the financial circumstances of your practice. All these factors must be considered in light of the advantages and disadvantages of the professional corporation model.

In most cases, it is recommended to obtain advice on these matters from professionals skilled in assessing financial circumstances and the legal aspects of corporations. The College recommends that you discuss your plans for professional incorporation with your accountant and lawyer before proceeding.

2. I am already practising through a corporation that does not comply with the rules for a professional corporation. Do I need to change or convert that business corporation to a professional corporation?

If the corporation is going to practise naturopathy, it must be converted into a naturopathic professional corporation operating under a certificate of authorization.

3. What are the advantages and disadvantages of setting up my practice as a professional corporation?

As noted above, the advantages and disadvantages of setting up your practice as a professional corporation will depend to a large degree on your personal circumstances as well as the circumstances of your practice.

Generally speaking, the College understands that much of the benefit of the professional corporation relates to the way corporations are taxed. However, it should be noted that the restricted ownership structure of the professional corporation might negate some of these benefits. As such, the College recommends that you discuss your plans for professional incorporation with your accountant and lawyer before proceeding.

4. What is the difference between a professional corporation and a practice management corporation?

From the College's perspective, the main difference is that a practice management corporation cannot practise naturopathy. As such, a certificate of authorization is not required for a practice management corporation. Your legal and business advisors can provide specific advice relevant to your circumstance.

5. My colleagues and I, some of whom are members of other health professions, have set up a corporation to manage our clinic. Do we have to register our corporation with the College and obtain a certificate of authorization?

As noted previously, there are differences between professional corporations and those that manage practices. A corporation that manages a practice is not permitted to practise a regulated health profession and hence is not required to register with this College or the Colleges of their shareholders.

6. How long is the process for setting up and registering a professional corporation?

The College cannot provide information on how long it takes to obtain Articles of Incorporation from the Ministry of Public and Business Service Delivery and Procurement (MPBSDP).

Registrants are advised to contact the Ministry directly at www.ontario.ca/page/ministry-public-and-business-service-delivery-and-procurement for information on how to set up a professional corporation and the timing of this process.

Once a registrant submits an application to the College for a Certificate of Authorization for a professional corporation, the College will endeavour to process the application within 30 days. Naturally, the College can only meet this goal if the application is submitted with all the required supporting documents and fees.

Setting up the Corporation

7. What is an acceptable name for my professional corporation?

There are a number of restrictions on the names of professional corporations. Briefly, the names of professional corporations must:

- include the words “Professional Corporation” or “Société Professionnelle”.
- include the surname of one or more shareholders of the corporation as the surname is set out in the College register; and
- indicate the health profession practised by the shareholders as authorized in the Naturopathy Act, 2007 (i.e., “naturopathy” or “naturopathic”); [TIP: “naturopathy” is the term authorized in the Act and “naturopathic” would be an acceptable derivation; however, “naturopathic medicine” would not reflect the terminology in the Naturopathy Act and would therefore not be acceptable]; and must not:

- include any information other than that permitted under the Business Corporation Act or the regulations.
- include any professional titles or designations (e.g., “Dr.”, “Doctor”, “Naturopathic Doctor” or “ND”).
- violate the provision of any other Act; and
- have a number name.

Despite these restrictions, the name of the corporation may also include the shareholders’ given name, one or more of the shareholder’s initials or a combination of his or her given name and initials.

For detailed information, please refer to section 3.2 of the Business Corporation Act and Ontario Regulation 39/02 under the Regulated Health Professions Act, both of which are included in the College information package on professional corporations. It is also wise to consult with the College before setting up your corporation to ensure that the name is appropriate and thus avoid the need to change this name after applying to the College.

8. What are some examples of acceptable articles of incorporation?

“The corporation cannot carry on a business other than the practise of naturopathy and activities related to or ancillary to the practise of naturopathy.”

or

“The corporation cannot carry on a business other than the practise of the profession as governed by the College of Naturopaths of Ontario and activities related to or ancillary to the practise of the profession.

9. Do I have to change the name of my practice so that it is the same as the name of my professional corporation?

Not necessarily. The rules for the names of professional corporations mean that your current practice name will probably not qualify as an appropriate name for your professional corporation. Since it may be confusing for your patients if you change your practice name to match the name of your professional corporation, the rules permit professional corporations to practise under different names. However, any material that includes your practice name (e.g., letterhead, invoices, receipts) should also have the name of the corporation on it if the two are different. Owners of professional corporations are required to inform the College of every practice name under which the professional corporation practices. Naturally, there is nothing to prevent you from using the name of your professional corporation as the name of your practice.

10. What kinds of activities can a professional corporation undertake?

As noted above, the Business Corporations Act provides that the only business that professional corporations are permitted to undertake is the practise of the profession and activities that are related to or ancillary to the practise of the profession. This includes the temporary investment of surplus funds earned by the corporation. The practise of another profession (e.g., massage therapy, physiotherapy, chiropractic) is not “related to or ancillary” to the practise of naturopathy and cannot be practised by or through a professional corporation. Practitioners of these professions need to obtain their own professional corporation with a certificate of authorization from another College.

11. Who is permitted to be a shareholder, officer or director of a professional corporation?

Section 3.2 of the Business Corporations Act requires that all shares of a professional corporation be owned by one or more members of the same profession. The same section also requires that all officers or directors of a professional corporation be shareholders of the professional corporation. Since shareholders must be members of the same profession, and officers and directors must be shareholders, only members of the same profession can be officers or directors.⁴

12. Can my spouse be a shareholder, officer or director of my professional corporation if she/he is not a naturopathic doctor?

No – shareholders in a professional corporation must be members of the same profession. In addition, all officers and directors must be shareholders; so, this means that only members of the same profession can be officers or directors.

13. Can a holding company be a shareholder of a naturopathic professional corporation?

Yes – holding companies are permitted to hold shares of a naturopathic professional corporation so long as all of the shareholders of the holding company's shares are naturopathic doctors registered with the College of Naturopaths of Ontario (the College).

Professional Responsibility

14. As a registered naturopathic doctor and part owner of a professional corporation, what is my personal responsibility for the inappropriate activities of the professional corporation?

Section 3.4 of the Business Corporations Act makes it clear that the shareholders of professional corporations remain responsible for the activities of the professional corporation. This means that the activities of the corporation reflect directly upon the shareholders' responsibility to uphold professional standards. In addition, shareholders of professional corporations retain their responsibility for professional liability claims made against the corporation in respect to errors and omissions that were made or occurred while the person was a shareholder of the corporation.

To make it clear that the professional corporation cannot be used as a means of avoiding professional responsibilities, section 3.4 also contains a clause that deems the act of a professional corporation to be the acts of the shareholders, employees, or agents of the corporation, as the case may be.

15. Can the College revoke my professional corporation's certificate of authorization?

Yes – The College can revoke a professional corporation's certificate of authorization for the following reasons:

- the corporation ceases to be eligible to hold a certificate of authorization.
- the corporation ceases to practise the profession in respect of which the certificate of authorization was issued.
- the corporation fails to comply with one or more of the requirements for a renewal of the certificate of authorization.
- the corporation carries on any business that is not the practise of the profession governed by the College or activities related to or ancillary to the practise of that profession; or ⁴ See Frequently Asked Questions section for information on holding companies.

- the corporation fails to notify the CEO of a change in shareholders.

16. If the College revokes my professional corporation's certificate of authorization, how do I get it back?

If the College revokes a certificate of authorization, the professional corporation must apply for a new one and meet the eligibility requirements in effect at the time, which includes submitting the required information and paying the fees.

17. How often am I supposed to provide the College with updates on changing information about my professional corporation?

The College has a by-law that governs the kind of information that a professional corporation must provide to the College and when it must be provided.

The College by-laws state that every registrant of the College shall, for every professional corporation of which the registrant is a shareholder, provide in writing the following information on the application and annual renewal forms for a certificate of authorization, upon the written request of the CEO within 30 days and upon any change in the information within 30 days of the change:

1. the name of the professional corporation as registered with the Ministry of Public and Business Service Delivery and Procurement.
2. any business names used by the professional corporation.
3. the name, as set out in the register, and registration number of each shareholder of the professional corporation.
4. the name, as set out in the register, of each officer and director of the professional corporation, and the title or office held by each officer and director.
5. the principal practice address, telephone number, facsimile number and email address of the professional corporation.
6. the address and telephone number of all other locations, other than residences of clients, at which the professional services offered by the professional corporation are provided; and
7. a brief description of the professional activities carried out by the professional corporation.

It is important to note that professional corporations are required to provide the College with updates to this information within 30 days of any change.

The Model

18. Why do I have to obtain Articles of Incorporation from the Ministry of Public and Business Service Delivery and Procurement (MPBSDP) and then register the corporation with the College as well?

While this model may seem to be unnecessarily complex, the Business Corporations Act requires professional corporations to obtain their Articles of Incorporation from the MPBSDP and their certificate of authorization from the organization that regulates their profession.

The College understands that this process is intended to ensure that the shareholders, officers and directors of professional corporations understand their professional responsibility respecting the activities of their corporations. In addition, the responsibilities that have been delegated to regulatory agencies are justified on the basis that regulatory agencies must retain authority over their members and the ability to grant, and to revoke certificates of authorization is a means of maintaining this kind of authority.

19. Why has the College chosen to regulate professional corporations?

The College and other regulatory bodies did not choose to regulate professional corporations. Rather, the government chose to delegate this role to regulatory bodies as an additional duty, above and beyond their duties to regulate individual registrants.

20. Why is the College charging professional corporations to register and obtain certificates of authorization? Since the owners and shareholders of professional corporations have to be College registrants anyway, doesn't it mean we are paying twice?

In most respects, corporations, including professional corporations, are entities that are treated in the law much like individuals. This means that although they may be owned by Registrant of the College, the professional corporation is distinct from its owners and must be treated as such.

Furthermore, the requirement for the College to record and monitor substantial amounts of information about professional corporations that is different from the kind of information kept on individual registrants requires the College to establish separate processes for record keeping, administration, and management of professional corporations. As such, a separate fee for professional corporations was established.

21. Do I need to do anything with my certificate of authorization for my Professional Corporation if I resign my certificate of registration with the College?

If seeking to resign your certificate of registration to practise naturopathy in Ontario, your Professional Corporation must be dissolved through the Ministry of Public and Business Service Delivery and Procurement, and a copy of the Certificate of Dissolution must be provided to the College before your resignation can be processed. The dissolution process typically takes anywhere from 30 to 90 days.
