* There is a two-year time limit during which an applicant must have completed their entry-to-practise exams to be eligible for registration with the College of Naturopaths of Ontario. After two-years, an applicant may be sent for an assessment to CONO's Registration Committee to determine their currency of knowledge and skills, along with a need for additional training, education, or exams based on identified areas of atrophy. This requirement may also exist in other provinces, states or territories. Therefore, if you are highly unlikely to practise outside Ontario/Canada within two years, you may choose to only complete the CONO exams.

Following are brief descriptions of the entry-to-practise exams discussed in the charts above:

NPLEX - the Naturopathic Physicians Licensing Examination as developed by NPLEX Inc., and delivered by the North American Board of Naturopathic Examiners. NPLEX includes two parts, NPLEX Stage 1 (Biomedical exam) and the NPLEX Stage II (Clinical Sciences exam and clinical elective in Acupuncture exam).

CONO Biomedical Sciences Exam - a registration examination in the biomedical sciences which tests candidate knowledge of body systems and their interactions, body functions, dysfunctions, and disease states.

CONO Clinical Sciences Exam – a registration examination in the clinical sciences which tests a candidate's knowledge of necessary naturopathic competencies for the treatment of patients, required to be eligible for registration with the College to practise naturopathy in the province of Ontario.

CONO Clinical (practical) Exams - a practical examination in Physical Examination/Instrumentation, Acupuncture, and Manipulation, required to be eligible for registration.

CONO Jurisprudence Exam – an online, open-book exam that tests candidate knowledge and understanding of the laws, regulations, College by-laws, and practice standards and guidelines that govern the naturopathy profession in Ontario.
